

Skating Rink To Again Be Leased

BUILDING BYLAWS TO BE RE-FRAMED AND STRICTLY ENFORCED; FIRE RISKS TO BE ELIMINATED SO FAR AS POSSIBLE OLD ELECTRIC LIGHT ACCOUNTS TO BE SUED FOR

Minutes of a regular meeting of the Town Council held in the Council chamber on the above date

Members present: Mayor Forster and Councillors: Clipston, Morris Robinson and Welch

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted

A communication from the secretary of Wainwright Elk Lodge, No. 22 was read, advising the Council that the committee of that Lodge wish to notify the Town of Wainwright that it is not their intention to enter into another contract regarding the continuation of a lease of the skating rink for another season, and that the existing lease expired on the 15th day of October 1928, this serving as notice to the town to that effect

Mr. W. Pigeon waited on the Council on behalf of the Wainwright Lodge B.P.O.E. No. 22 stating that the Lodge was the owner of considerable equipment in a booth fitted for the purpose of serving refreshments and asking that the Town take over the same at a price of twenty-five dollars

Moved by Coun. Morris—That the booth and equipment in the skating rink furnished by the Elk Lodge No. 22 be purchased at a price of twenty-five dollars—Carried

The committee on Fire, Water and Light reported recommending that on recommendation in the Supplementary Report on the Town of Wainwright by the Western Canada Fire Underwriters association this Council take into consideration more adequate by-laws regarding the erection and construction of buildings and electrical protection on the same lines as those suggested by the association; also that a survey be made of the fire apparatus; the committee having power to purchase such equipment as are necessary to make the same more adequate

Moved by Coun. Clipston—That the report of the Fire, Water and Light committee be adopted—Carried

Moved by Coun. Morris—That the matter of the property owned by the town situated on lots four and five in block four, plan 6445-V be placed in the hands of our Solicitor for further action—Carried

Moved by Coun. Morris—That tenders be called for the leasing of the Skating Rink for the season of 1928-29 through the medium of the "Wainwright Star". The same to be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer and to be in his hands not later than the 31st day of November 1928—Carried

Moved by Coun. Clipston—That the office in the Fire Hall be rented to the Calgary Power Co. Ltd. at a rental of $5.00 per month, retroactive to July 1st 1928—Carried

Moved by Coun. Welch—That the building on the rear of lots 15 and 16 in block 7, plan 6445-V be rented to Messrs Link and McLuhan, at a monthly rental of $6.00 from Oct 15 1928 for storing automobiles. Dead storage only—Carried

Moved by Coun. Welch—That all ever-due electric light accounts owing to the Town be placed in the hands of the solicitor for collection—Carried

Moved by Coun. Robinson that this Council do now adjourn—Carried

PRESENT REVENUE SHOWS INCREASE

CUSTOMS, EXCISE AND INCOME TAX TOTALS 380 MILLION DOLLARS

That the present revenue from customs, excise and income tax in the Dominion totalled 380 million dollars which represented more money than the whole of the national debt before the war was the statement made by Hon. W. D. E. R. minister of customs who is just now touring the west inspecting the various branches of his department

Throughout the West, at Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Vancouver and also in Calgary, there was heard a healthy, business improvement. The most satisfactory feature was that it was not a boom condition at all

The minister in reply to a question stated that customs collections during the last six months in Canada showed an increase of $13,000,000. Income tax collections were up about $5,000,000 even in face of the ten per cent reduction granted at the last session of parliament

HON CHAS STEWART IS VISITOR HERE

On Monday last the Hon Chas. Stewart, minister of the interior, was a visitor to town and while here met quite a number of prominent Liberals in town. In company with Messrs G. Pratt and J. Driscoll, who motored down from the city with him, as well as Mayor Forster, and the Editor, the visitor was entertained to lunch at the home of Mrs. H. Y. Pawling, before leaving for the south of the province Mr. Stewart explained while here that the delay regarding the erection of the new Federal building at Wainwright had been unavoidable owing to the time necessary for the transfer of the property which the Town Council effected for the new erection. Tenders for this building are being called by an advertisement in this issue

MOVIE SHIP HAS HARD ADVENTURE

LOG OF CRAFT USED IN NEW FOX PICTURE SHOWS ORDEAL OF CAST

The log of the good ship "The Fisherman" showed not only a record of hard luck but of exciting adventure during the six days the Howard Hawks company was aboard making "A Girl in Every Port" at the Ellice Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday

The day began at 6:30 in the morning when breakfast was served and actual work on the picture started at 7:30 and continued on until the last vestige of light was gone. Everything went along serenely during the first four days and then the martingale broke and the company was forced to go to Santa Barbara for repairs

When everything was ship-shape again they started out to look for their storm and found it the next day while sailing through the treacherous waters around Richardson's Rock. Cameras were then lashed to the deck and some really thrilling scenes were made during a storm

Aside from such minor annoyances as four fires in the galley and one in the stern of the boat caused by the exhaust from the engine igniting a pile of dry rope, the trip was without further excitement

EDGERTON OLD-TIMER PASSES TO REWARD

MR. J. C. JOHNS DIES AT HIS FARM HOME AGED 54 YEARS

One of the old-timers of the Edgerton district passed away on October 15th, at the comparatively early age of 54 years, heart trouble from which the deceased has been ill from some long time being the cause of death

The late Mr. Johns who was born at Port Hope, Ont., came to the west in 1911 and for some years worked in this district for the G.T.P. railroad later he took up farming, two miles north of Edgerton, and has farmed there ever since, being well known to a very large number of friends and acquaintances over an extremely large area

He leaves to mourn, besides his wife and one daughter these being Messrs Clarence, Leo, Kenneth, Fred, and Frank and Miss Hilda Johns

The funeral was held on Wednesday last at the home of the deceased the Rev Mr. Willett, of Edgerton, conducting the sad service both there and at the graveside in Edgerton cemetery

Among the lovely array of floral tributes were: The Family, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Krimbl, wreath; Friends wreath; School children (of whom the late Mr. Johns was always especially fond) large spray; Lindegar Bros. (wreath); Mr. and Mrs. Vic Wheeler, cross; Mr. Ray Carr, spray and others

CARD OF THANKS

For the many expressions of love and kindness during the long illness and final passing of our beloved husband and father, we wish to express our deepest and heartfelt gratitude; and also for the beautiful floral tributes

WAINWRIGHT'S OIL PLEASES VISITORS

ONE OF THE MOST ATTRACTIVE EXHIBITS AT BIG TORONTO EXHIBITION

One of the most attractive exhibits at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this year was that featuring the coal and oil resources of Alberta

In addition to geological maps and good-sized pictures of many of the oil wells there were on exhibition liberal samples of products from many of the producing wells

Another section of the exhibit was devoted to the crude naphtha and crude oils products of Turner Valley. Altogether the putting on of a display of Alberta's oil proved a wonderful success and no doubt did a great deal towards educating the people of eastern Canada as to the wonderful possibilities that await the developers of Alberta's oil resources. The Alberta exhibit was in charge of Howard Stutchbury, Trade Commissioner of this province

OLD-TIMERS OF DISTRICT HONORED ON LEAVING

Owing to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Sargeant, of Greenhills district are leaving this week with their family to take up residence at their new home at Clive, a large number of their friends and neighbors (48 in all) paid them a surprise visit on Monday evening last. A truly pleasant day was spent in music and games, and at midnight a sumptuous supper was spread by the "surprisers". Before saying the last good-byes an address was read to the departing couple in which the presenters of the party to them consisted of a years subscription to the Wainwright Star for Mr. Sargeant, while his better half received a lovely linen tablecloth

HOSPITAL SHOWER STILL GATHERING

ANOTHER LONG LIST OF GIFTS PROVES EFFORT OF DONORS TRULY WORTH-WHILE

DANCE TO BE HELD HALLOWEEN NIGHT

Mr. Bill Brunker, proprietor of the Ellice theatre, has arranged for a big dance on Wednesday night next Oct. 31st. The Clark orchestra will supply the music for this occasion, and the ladies of the Women's Institute will attend to the supper requirements. There are to be lots of "novelties" and the affair should be one to be long remembered

GRIZZLY BEAR M.D. DOES MUCH BUSINESS

SAY OLD SEED GRAIN LIENS MUST BE SETTLED FORTHWITH

The Council of Municipal District of Grizzly Bear No. 452, met at the Secretary's Office, Wainwright on Saturday, October 13th. Reeve Shaan taking the chair

Councillors S. E. Purser, R. J. Allan, Roberts, C. Freidland and Alec Dickson being also present

Minutes of previous meeting were read and on motion adopted

Notice taken of visit to the office of Inspector Ritchie from the Department of Municipal Affairs, Edmonton, and Inspector's Report was submitted by the Reeve, and after consideration was ordered filed

One case of Chicken pox reported in northern part of the municipality

Road work sheets were presented and passed and accounts aggregating $1040 were submitted and ordered paid

YOUNG COUPLE OF DISTRICT ARE JOINED IN WEDLOCK

On Tuesday morning at the United Church manse, the pastor Rev. N. Whitmore, performed the nuptial ceremony between Miss Edna, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hughes and Mr. James H. Hanna. Both the contracting parties are from the Greenhills district and are assured of the happiest wishes of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Miss Lexie Morrison and Mr. W. R. Morrison "stood up" with the happy couple who left on the C.N. Ry. No. 2 bound for Pictou, Ontario, where they will spend their honeymoon

A very large crowd of friends of the young couple "properly" saw them off at the depot

TEACHERS TO HOLD EIGHTH ANNUAL CONV.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO ORGANISE IN THE WAINWRIGHT INSPECTORATE

The eighth annual convention of the teachers of the Wainwright Inspectorate is to be held at the high school in town on Thursday and Friday November 8th and 9th next

The executive of teachers' association have planned an interesting and instructive programme which is now being distributed to all concerned

Commencing at 9 o'clock sharp on the first morning addresses will be given by Mayor Forster, and Dr. Middlemass, chairman of the Wainwright School Board, after which the day will be given over to matters pertaining to scholastic work. Among these, Miss E. Hughes, of Wainwright will give an object lesson in teaching a singing lesson to one of the younger grades while speeches on various school subjects will be given by Mr. H. Edwards, B.A., school inspector, Mr. D. S. A. Kyle, principal Wainwright schools and Mr. G. C. Collier principal at Edgerton school

The convention on Friday will be school subjects (both town and country) in actual operation, as well as time being allowed for a round-table talk on relevant topics

During the progress of the convention the trustees of the several schools in the Wainwright Inspectorate will organize a Teachers' association, while on Thursday evening a banquet is being arranged, with a programme of music to follow

Visitors are welcome to attend any and all sessions of the convention

DAVID JOHN ABERNETHY BURIED HERE SATURDAY

The funeral of Mr. David Abernethy who was resident of the Wainwright district for many years, took place on Saturday last at St. Andrew's (Pres.) church, interment being at Wainwright cemetery. The last rites were conducted by the pastor, Rev W. S. Brooker, who spoke very feelingly on the short span of our life on earth. Quite a number of sympathisers followed the remains to their last resting place. The arrangements were in the hands of McLeod's parlors

Power Troubles Soon To Cease

NEW INSTALLATION AT PLANT ARE NOW NEARING COMPLETION; SECOND UNIT WILL SOON BE AT WORK; LOAD FOR HARDIPLY NOW BALANCED INTERMITTENT LIGHTING TO BE MADE STEADY FROM NOW ON

FIRE BREAKS OUT AT W. HETHERINGTON HOME

What might easily have proved a fatality was happily averted by the presence of mind of the hired man, at the home of Mr. W. Hetherington, north of town, on Sunday evening last. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington were away from the house, and the children were in bed. The hired man hearing the youngest coughing, investigated, with the result that he discovered that smoke had caused the child to be disturbed. Upon further investigation, he found that a wood box in the back kitchen had become ignited from some unknown cause, and immediately put out the fire with some well applied pails of water. Quite a little damage was done to the walls and floor before everything was pronounced safe

Although our citizens have been sorely tried during the past two or three weeks, owing to the fact that the electric lighting plant (now operated under franchise by the Calgary Power Co.) has been subject to several "shut-downs" the letter shown below, which is in answer to a communication of censure from our Town Council regarding the unsatisfactory service being given will certainly be read with interest, and the whole matter appear is a somewhat different light

H. Y. Pawling Esq., Secretary-Treasurer, Town of Wainwright

Dear Sir:—Referring to your letter of the 18th inst. we regret very much the interruptions that have occurred in the service at Wainwright

As you know in installing the new plant it was necessary to remove the steam plant before a second engine could be installed in order to make room for the second unit, thus the service had to be carried on a single unit which had to be put into service with very little opportunity for proper adjustment to the gas being used

To increase the difficulty the precarious nature of the generating equipment at Hardipty, made it necessary to take the Hardipty load on the line before our transformer installation was completed in order not to throw that town completely into darkness. The Hardipty load had to be carried on a single phase which to a considerable extent upset the voltage regulation of your town

A further difficulty arose due to a defective voltage indicator at the power house which registered a considerably greater voltage than was actually being put out

The installation of the second generating unit at Wainwright has been proceeded with as rapidly as it was possible and this unit will be in service about the 22nd inst. and will considerably reduce the voltage that has been excessive, the putting into service of the second unit will provide a guarantee of continuous service. The connecting of the Hardipty load on three phases instead of one provides a better balance of the load on the lines and you can be assured that as soon as it is possible to complete our installations in the power house that you will receive the service that you have a right to expect

The providing of service during the period of construction of a power plant is always a difficult problem as in the ordinary course of events the equipment would be fully installed and operated for a sufficient length of time to allow of necessary adjustments being made before the service was offered to the public. In this case however it was necessary to protect the town as far as possible, services already in operation while at the same time completely remodelling the power house and in the case of Hardipty rebuilding the distribution system and changing the services from direct current to alternating current

We feel sure that you Council realize the extraordinary circumstances under which the interruptions have occurred and I wish to assure you that we are taking every step possible to complete the power house and to bring the service to normal

Yours very truly

FOURTH FLOOR ADDED SCH. OF AGRICULTURE

LARGE ENROLLMENT OF PUPILS FORCES ADDITION TO NEW BUILDING

The new dormitory which was provided for the Vermilion School of Agriculture has been filled to capacity for over a week. Realizing the situation the Honourable George Hoodley Minister of Agriculture, has announced that the fourth floor will be finished thus providing for about thirty more boys and a similar number of girls

This addition of a fourth floor will provide for an enrollment of over 200. There are proportionally more boys registered than girls although there are 75 girls registered at the present time but the added accommodation ought to provide for nearly all who wish to attend. The present indications are that the boys will be completely filled and if registrations come in from girls as they have in the past ten days that wing will also have its full quota

We would recommend that all boys and girls over 16 years of age who desire to take the Agricultural or Household Science Courses at the Provincial School of Agriculture, Vermilion, send in their application at once as the courses start October 30th

TEACH CANADIAN WAYS IN BRITAIN

TWO FEDERAL SCHOOLS TO BE OPENED IN ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND, FORKE SAYS

EDMONTON—Establishment of two training schools in Great Britain for the purpose of giving a six weeks course in domestic work to girls coming to Canada for this purpose and the medical examination of Britishers coming Canada by British doctors are two of the outstanding plans being put into effect by the Canadian department of immigration in the interests of better and more contented settlers, states Hon. Robert Forke, minister of immigration

Mr. Forke is in Edmonton to confer with the Alberta government on immigration conditions in general

Also Provincial Aid

Nothing much has yet been done on the latter recommendation as let says Mr. Forke. The scheme is a tremendous one and involves much preparatory work. Meantime he is visiting the various provincial governments and discussing immigration questions with them. He is being received with every courtesy of co-operation and support by the

Duplicate Canadian Home

Two schools will be opened for domestic training, one in England and the other in Scotland. Canadian home conditions will be duplicated exactly and the six weeks training course will be given for free by the household management in Canada. This course is expected to provide a big supply of well trained British girls suitable for domestic work in Canada

OIL DRILLING IN PARK FORBIDDEN

HON. CHAS. STEWART DENIES RUMOR ABOUT WAINWRIGHT PRESERVE

An emphatic denial of reports that oil drilling may be permitted in the Buffalo park at Wainwright, is given by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior. This rather explosive report came out of the park all about the federal government is about to grant leases in that area to oil land seekers

"There is no truth whatever in the report declared Hon. Mr. Stewart" While it is true that we have had numerous applications for the right to obtain oil leases in the park all have been turned down. There is plenty of land available outside the park and therefore no necessity to grant the applications

In Five MILLION HOMES TONIGHT

There are times when all a mother's love can't soothe a fretful baby. No way of telling just what's wrong, yet something must be done. Castoria time! A few drops, and Baby has dropped off to sleep. Yet this marvelous means of quieting a restless infant is utterly harmless. There is not one ingredient but what all doctors know and approve, and would let you give your baby every day in the week. In fact Castoria is a purely vegetable product. On pain, constipation, even diarrhea can be dispensed in this same manner. Castoria is older than you are, but physicians still say "nothing better for babies." An old-fashioned remedy if you count the years, but parents are old-fashioned who still raise babies without its aid. And at least five million modern mothers keep it handy day and night, for twenty-five million bottles were bought last year! Buy yours now; don't wait until you need it.

His fingers clenched her shoulders cut into the smooth skin beneath them. Adriana sank back against the high back of her chair; one hand gripped the carving of the chair arm till pain brought her out of the half-swoon. That for an instant had claimed her. Her wedding veil and headpiece were intolerably heavy; their weight seemed to drag her head backward. She felt as if she were being tortured. Madly, her thoughts painted a far different picture than the one before her. It had been Don Juan to whom she had just been married in the cathedral. If it had been he who sat beside her—how would she have felt then?

Her father's hand touched hers; she looked up to find him gazing down at her compassionately. For a moment she relaxed and smiled up at him trying desperately to reflect the gaiety of the guests, trying to make him believe that her sacrifice had after all been but a little thing that she did not mind. And Lucetta sitting near turned to her brother with a quizzical little smile; it was answered by Cesare's; to him also this was an interesting spectacle. What more amusing than a young girl on her wedding night, married to a man whom she feared and hated?

The long windows stood open; through them came the tolling of the cathedral bells. Adriana trembled at the sound. She had heard the tolling of those bells when she was supremely happy; when her love for Juan and his for her filled all the world. And now they were sounding a death knell to her happiness.

To Juan too came the sound of the bells. Sharply he turned to Pedro. "Shut the windows you fool he cried. The noise of those bells drives me mad."

Hastily Pedro obeyed but the music of the bells still sounded in the room where Juan sat with a woman at his side. Across from the wide seat where he lounged two other men sat drinking and talking loudly. Watching him, Juan had no such complaints as Juan had formerly known. Since the night when he had found Adriana and Donati together in her sleeping chamber Juan had tried desperately to forget her. He had gone into the slums of Rome had engaged in street brawls and sought every possible means of separating himself so widely from the world in which Adriana moved that there would be no chance even of hearing of her name.

And yet he could not make himself leave the city. And tonight the tolling of the bells made him wince under the lash wielded by his memories of her. The woman beside him moved nearer laid her arm around her neck. Impatiently he jerked away dragged her arm from his resting place. In that moment he loathed her wondering why he had even tolerated her presence.

The fact that she was one of the loveliest women in Italy the wife of a great noble meant nothing to Juan. She was Adriana. Therefore she might as well have been any beggar maid in the streets any flower girl—or any princess for that matter.

But the woman would not let her love be denied. Again she edged close to him slipped her arm through his fingers closing over his hand at his impetuous movement she sighed.

"You do not love me any more," she murmured accusingly.

He turned as looked down at her coldly his eyes empty of affection for her as if she had been some dog.

It is true! You have loved him—and love him now!

Trembling she crouched still lower turning her face in her hands. He turned to Juan who had slowly followed him. Drawing his sword he lunged at Juan who stepped aside at the moment caught Rinaldi's hand and twisted it until the sword fell clattering to the floor. Death would be sweet but not in such a cause he told himself.

Rinaldi was beside himself with rage. The world will be better without you," he cried to Juan. "You destroyer of men's lives—of their faith in the woman they love."

Juan faced him contemptuously. "You fool! I deserve your stupid thanks for lifting the scales from your eyes," he replied. "No man is quite sane who has illusions about women."

Over Rinaldi's shoulder he smiled mockingly at the Marchese. Her face was drawn piteous; he fought against the inclination to help her, to be kind and merciful when she no much needed help. Life had tormented him—it it tortured others too.

She stumbled to her feet moaning and ran to her husband. She threw her arms around her neck, uttering little imploring cries clinging to him sobbing. Rinaldi looked down at her almost tenderly; would have taken her in his arms had not Juan's cynical laughter forced him to recall what he had for a moment forgotten.

Muttering a curse he tore her arms from his neck and hurled her from him.

Juan wondered at himself. He had not meant to laugh, yet it was as if some force which he could not control was governing him; the hatred of life that had its own way with him since he lost faith in Adriana never for an instant lost its power.

He felt as if he were taking part in some scene that had no reality. He stood calmly watching the Marchese realizing her desperation all too well—it was akin to his own mood. But he was not prepared for her next action. Drawing a short jewelled dagger from the bodice of her gown she drove it into her breast straight toward the heart.

Juan stood dazed. Rinaldi with a cry that Juan felt would ring in his ears forever ran to her caught her falling body in his arms and lowered it gently to the floor. Still holding her he murmured endearments kissed her hair begged her to forgive him for his cruelty. And dying she looked not at him but at Juan.

Infuriated Rinaldi laid her dead body on the stone floor and leaping to his feet stood glaring at his wife's lover.

"You shall pay for this!" he cried his voice thick with rage. His face was like that of a madman twisted with fury. "You killed her as surely as if your hand had struck the blow. You shall pay."

Juan watched him coldly. Then with deliberation he sauntered to the door unbolted it, and as he flung it wide called to Pedro and the two men who were sitting drinking awaiting Juan's return to the room.

Juan's voice was a lazy drawl one would have said that he had no interest at all in what he was saying had it not been for the way his eyes narrowed and the tenseness of his body. A tragedy gentlemen in place of the usual comedy he announced. The fact as it happens had killed his wife.

Rinaldi cried out in protest. Pedro and the two men ran to seize him; Juan stood watching coldly while he struggled shouting accusations against Juan declaring his own innocence.

One of the men loosened hold; the other looked inquiringly at Juan. He shrugged his shoulders spoke with what was almost solicitude save for its note of mockery. "Be lenient," he urged. "The man is dead!"

Rinaldi renewed his struggles and even for the three men subduing him he was no easy task. He fought with the superhuman strength of a madman snarling at them almost dragging himself from their grasp once and leaping toward Juan who appeared only too politely interested in his frantic efforts to free himself.

He was beaten into submission at last and dragged from the room. Juan looking down at the dead woman shuddered with horror. For a moment it seemed as if the demon within him might lose its grip conquered by pity. Then straightening his shoulders Juan strode toward the door followed by Pedro.

He went to the outer door stood there for a moment watching Rinaldi disappear into the distance on his way to prison. Poor devil! Well that was what he got for being brought in to be told himself. Never would he do it again. Something whispered to him that never again would there be anyone like Adriana in his life that never could he care for anyone else as he did for her. He laughed bitterly at the thought.

Her face rose before him; its lovely contours its purity the long delicate lines of her slender body were clear before him. He had told himself that he would put her out of his mind for ever yet always she came back to him in this way as if he could not kill his memories of her.

Always too came the urging love of her that threatened to over power him to awaken his resolution and send him to the street corner from which he could see her entering the church where she worshipped daily. He was afraid of yielding to that impulse; his effort to vanquish it led him to such acts as the one which had just resulted in the death of the Marchese Rinaldi. Yet ever it came back to him.

He stood there in the fragrance of the early summer night a lost soul so wanting salvation.

And as he stood the sound of tolling bells came clearly to him.

Pedro's step sounded behind him. Impatiently he turned to the man.

"This is abominable! Will those bells never cease?"

"They will ring master until the banquet is over and the Count Donati escorts his bride to their apartments. Juan stifled the cry of anguish that rose to his lips. He had need no answer to his question when he knew that the reply must be yet hearing the words from Pedro's lips stilled him anew.

ANOTHER "HOLT" TRIUMPH

Three weeks ago we published in this paper an invitation urging you to investigate what HOLT COMBINED HARVESTERS were doing in your District.

We asked you to make comparisons between the SWATH and WINDROW PICK-UP System of the HOLT method as against other means of handling grain, and also competitive machines.

You found that our statements were correct—that HOLT was the only 100 per cent perfect system—that users of this method had successfully harvested their crops while stocks were still out in the field—that their grain averaged as high as that gathered by any other method—that they had saved from ONE to THREE bushels per acre in handling and from 15 to 18 cents per bushel on operating costs.

That the ORIGINAL COMBINE ---the "Holt"--- wins again over all competitors and imitations.

That users are convinced that harvesting by the HOLT method is the solution of the farmers problems in Canada.

This is the reason why we urged you to investigate while the season was on and we trust you will get an order in early for your

IF EVERYBODY DID IT!

THINK FOR A MOMENT WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF, EVEN FOR ONE WEEK, EVERYBODY IN TOWN WERE TO SHOP ELSEWHERE—EITHER IN A NEIGHBORING TOWN OR BY MAIL WOULD IT NOT BE A CONSTITUTION. AND WOULD NOT ALL BUSINESS HOUSES BE VERY MUCH CONCERNED? THEY CERTAINLY WOULD, AND WITH GOOD REASON.

SOME DO THIS REGULARLY

—AND WHAT IS THE RESULT? EVERY DOLLAR SENT TO DISTANT BUSINESS HOUSES IS GONE SO FAR AS THAT PARTICULAR DISTRICT IS CONCERNED AND MERELY SERVES TO BUILD UP AND MAINTAIN SOME DISTANT TOWN. THE LOCAL BUSINESS MEN ARE ROBBED OF THAT CIRCULATION OF MONEY WHICH DURING ITS RAMBLINGS MIGHT HELP DOZENS ALONG THE WAY.

HOW ABOUT PRINTING?

ALL BUSINESS HOUSES NEED MORE OR LESS PRINTED MATTER ALL OF WHICH IS WITHIN THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE LOCAL PRINTER. YET HOW MANY ARE TO PASS UP THE HOME PRINTER, AND LET THE ORDERS GO TO CITY OFFICES WHICH HAVE NO INTEREST WHATSOEVER IN RURAL COMMUNITIES EXCEPT TO GET PRINTING ORDERS AND THE CASH TO PAY FOR THEM. BUSINESS MEN, REMEMBER THAT THE HOME PAPER IS CONSTANTLY PROMOTING THE INTERESTS OF THE HOME COMMUNITY AND YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF AND YOUR LOCAL PAPER TO BACK UP THESE EFFORTS BY AT LEAST HAVING YOUR PRINTED MATTER DONE LOCALLY

PROGRESSIVE MERCHANTS ADVERTISE

Issued by the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

By Dr. ARTHUR L. FORSTER

The blessings of the present epoch are not unshared. And it is largely due to the misuses we are making of our present day opportunities. We play too hard, just as we work too intensively. Historians of the future will call this the Era of Excess.

Its Foremost Sequel

The leading physiologic effect of this tendency to overdoing shows itself in the form of heart strain. This strain is not, however, confined to the heart but affects the entire vascular system. The most pronounced damage is manifestly done the main artery leaving the heart. When the heart is pushed to capacity this vessel is over-distended and permanently injured thereby. As a result it becomes hardened and the valve that guards its opening into the heart is damaged. At the same time it is not uncommon for deposits to form around the orifices of the vessels leaving this main artery that supply the heart itself. This causes an insufficient blood supply to the heart which thereby suffers still further depreciation. A vicious circle.

Causes of Heart Strain

The present day vogue for competitive athletics is responsible for many serious cases of heart strain. The greatest strain in athletics is produced by rowing, running and bicycle racing.

Chronic infections often act as a predisposing cause of heart strain, which shows itself after over-work. Tuberculosis, syphilis, and the excessive use of alcohol and tobacco are the most common offenders in this category. Bacterial infections in the tonsils, teeth or appendix often lead to chronic inflammation and degeneration of the heart muscle.

Severe exertion indulged by one who is recovering from an acute illness in persons who are anemic, or after fatigue or prolonged sorrow with loss of sleep is almost certain to result in heart strain.

The anger of heart strain in people over 40 who do unaccustomed and excessive work, is especially great. Men who have for years been engaged in a sedentary occupation often develop heart strain from overlifting, running up a flight of stairs or mountain climbing.

Signs of Heart Strain

In acute cases the symptoms common to heart failure develop rapidly and the patient collapses. In chronic cases the disturbances develop more gradually. There is an aching pain over the heart increased by muscular exertion. Tender spots, similar to those in a neuralgia of the nerves between the ribs, are noted in the lower left chest. The patient often experiences dizziness with shortness of breath when rising from a reclining position. He is weak, his vital capacity reduced.

What Should Be Done

In acute cases prolonged rest is necessary often for as long as a year. In most instances the heart comes back but the owner must cut out all excesses. He has a heart that is easily strained, and a recurrence may lead to permanent disability.

Growing boys and girls should never indulge in excessive athletics. There is altogether too much of this in grammar schools nowadays, to the lasting detriment of the health of these youngsters.

Older youths should receive a careful examination of the heart before they are allowed to enter any athletic events. And after each event they should be examined to determine how well the heart has stood the strain. People of mature years who contemplate any exertion to which they are unaccustomed should first have a thorough examination of the heart, kidney function and blood pressure (Copyright, 1928, by The Bonnet-Brown Corporation, Chicago)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Intravenous Medication

Reader writes: "What do you think of intravenous medication as compared with the taking of medicines by mouth. I have been advised to take injections of iron, arsenic and phosphorus and would like your advice."

Reply

There are a number of decided advantages in intravenous medication. The stomach is never upset. The dose can be accurately gauged. The effect is more rapid. The drug is utilized in its entirety. A smaller time is required to obtain results. Iron, Arsenic and Phosphorus are a valuable trio in neuro-vascular disorders.

After the usual belated heat of September the cool days of October are a relief to most of us. During this month the housewife who has been busy with summer vacations and afterward school preparation will welcome the chance to clean up the house and make any of the numerous little changes that seem to be essential for the winter months.

The curtains are probably the first things to be considered in the fall reorganization. Of course the summer drapes have to be taken down the winter ones made or cleaned and the glass curtains washed and mended for winter use. When the light summer hangings are removed they should be carefully examined for signs of fading and wear.

In some cases the colors which have faded from constant exposure to the hot sun can be restored by simple home remedies or one of the patent fluids now on the market. If this is impossible they may be dyed before they are put away for the season so that they will be ready for immediate use next year.

Floor Coverings Ought To Be Cleaned

The floor coverings whether they are to be renewed or changed before they are put away should be cleaned preferably with a vacuum cleaner which will remove the ingrained dirt and raise the pile and then wiped with a cloth slightly dampened with ammonia to renew the brilliance of the pattern.

Next the slip covers ought to be removed from the furniture and the pieces washed whenever possible and thoroughly cleaned.

With these things done the housekeeper will find her home a much pleasanter place to work and one which will be enjoyed by her whole family.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

- 1 For a heater, heat or headcase on a warm day nothing is more refreshing than a cool cloth on the forehead wrung out of water into which has been stirred a small quantity of soda?
- 2 Rubber bands will keep very much longer if they are kept in a tightly closed tin box?
- 3 If a custard curdles in cooking you have only to place the saucepan over cold water and beat the custard with an egg-beater until smooth.

HOW TALKING PICTURES ARE MADE

"Few people outside the film industry can realize how completely the art of the talking picture has changed the standards of screen production. The motion picture is in the throes of a mighty and sudden change."

Thus does J. L. Warner, production executive of Warner Bros., comment on the situation that exists today in motion picture circles, where the advent of the sound film has effected an entire alteration of thought and endeavor in the studios of Hollywood.

"We are now able," says Warner, "to approach the situation without the necessity of guessing at its outcome. Two years ago, when Warner Bros. began alone to pioneer in the field of the talking picture, we were sustained only by our faith in its future. Now we know that the sound film has been accepted by the public with an enthusiasm that definitely takes a new place in the experimental class and establishes it as an entertainment fully meeting the desires of the public."

"Six hundred theatres are already equipped for talking pictures, and additional installations are being made with the greatest speed. Inspired by the remarkable reception accorded the Vitaphone, producers are spending millions of dollars in construction of sound-proof stages and in equipment for making talking pictures."

"Warner Bros. alone have been producing sound films for two years and the first three 'sound stages' have been completed. Now we have just completed the fourth at a cost of more than $300,000—by far the largest structure of its kind in the industry, and measuring 200 by 300 feet. Within sixty days a fifth Vitaphone stage of the same dimensions as the last, will be in operation. "A visit to a sound stage is apt to upset all one's previous ideas of motion picture production. During the making of a 'silent' picture many noises are heard. The camera whirr, the director keeps up a running fire of instructions and suggestions to the players; perhaps a number of carpenters are hammering on another part of the stage; the studio lights sputter, and numerous 'little' noises come in from outside. "But in a sound picture, where the dialogue is audible, all noise except the speech of the players is eliminated. The stage is constructed with thick sound-proof walls; great incandescent bulbs, which are of course entirely noiseless in operation, are used for illumination; not a word may be whispered, or a step taken, by those not actually enacting part in the scene; the director's conveyer has instructions by means of motions which indicate some certain point in the action by pressing a button illuminating a tiny red light; the cameras and cameramen are sealed up in small, movable sound-proof booths, so that no sound may reach the microphone, and the photographing is done through 'windows' of fine grained glass. The silence is even more complete."

"The microphone is suspended above the players, where it is out of range of the camera; or where the characters are widely separated, or are called upon to move about during the scene, several microphones may be used. At a signal from the director the scene starts. In a glass-enclosed 'monitor room' suspended above the stage at two men charged with regulating the volume of tones which come through the microphone. "The expression has already become a trite one, but it will bear repeating: The talking picture has come to stay."

WHAT FOODS ARE POPULAR?

Contests conducted to ascertain popular likes and dislikes, often bring surprising results. Recently a well-known magazine offered a cash prize to the reader submitting the best recipe for a conserve, jelly, jam or preserve. Almost eight thousand recipes were received and up analyzing them for ingredients the food editors found that 37.6 per cent. of the contestants submitted recipes calling for oranges while 26.2 submitted recipes calling for lemons—percentages much higher than other products called for.

This would hardly have happened twenty years ago when an orange was a Christmas luxury and a lemon was purchased only when a special pie was desired for company, or someone at home had an old-fashioned cold in the head. Today, however the public has learned that green vegetables and fresh fruit will offset a multitude of ills and as both oranges and lemons have been found to be decidedly alkaline in their reaction rather than acid, they are being used extensively as tasty balancers

SICKLY HOUSE PLANTS

Some people have great difficulty in growing house plants, while others seem to be able to grow almost any kind of plant in any home they occupy.

Gas, insect sprays, too little water, too much water, too little sun and too much sun—any or several of these may be responsible

However, there are several simple plant medicines that may revive sickly house plants. Coffee grounds on the roots three or four times a week will often work wonders, particularly if two teaspoonsful of olive oil are added each ten days or so.

DID YOU EVER STOP
TO THINK

THAT advertising is the way modern business concerns appeal to the buying sense of the people.

THAT persistent advertising means progress and permanence for a business.

THAT prosperous concerns are businesses because their ads bring a class by itself. Their sale is never hurt by the unknown grades which are made to compete with them.

THAT persistent advertising of quality increases business. There is no substitute for quality. Quality, once used, creates a desire for more.

THAT the better the quality the more people will buy. Better quality gives satisfaction.

THAT persistent advertising of better quality not only attracts new buyers, but keeps present ones and increases consumption because better quality gives better service.

Advertising has an unbeatable
drawing power.

A progressive policy of steady advertising will build a permanent, profitable business.

TO PARENTS
HOME WORK

In discussing the matter of home work with the majority of the students of the upper grades, we are convinced that a great improvement in the method of home study is necessary or at least desirable in the majority of homes. This article is concerned particularly with those pupils who are "spending" considerable time at home study without showing a proportionate return in results in the classroom.

Some parents do not realize perhaps, the necessity of providing a quiet small room to which the pupil can retire and work undisturbed. Even when the home environments are of the best grade and the pupil quite able to master the work unaided the activity of studying must compete with many other tendencies and with distractions that result in divided attention and consequently waste of time and energy. Too much home study is done under discursive influences—a little study, a little conversation about irrelevant matters an intermittent discontinuance for small household duties a prolonged intermission for recreation, with the half feeling of wrong doing because of unfinished and overhanging lessons even interrupted sleep because of a number of unfinished tasks a final effort to secure categorically such facts regarding the assignment as are essential to enable the pupil to meet the teacher's consciousness of incompleteness of preparation and a hope that if called upon at all, that the call may come for the fact that are in the pupil's meagre store. What folly! How much better it is to spend a little time intensively at the work in hand.

IS SEEING Believing?

Would you believe the evidence of your own eyes if you knew that no effort was being made to deceive you?

Then this will interest you:

We shall place before everyone interested, honestly and in all sincerity, FACTS telling why it is a waste of time and money for persons needing eye treatment to go out of Wainwright, for examination, glasses or advice.

We shall deal with it from every angle — Experience and Knowledge, Quality of Lens, Frames and Fitting,

Price and Service after Delivery.

In this space next week we shall tell of our qualifications from an "Experience and Knowledge of Optometry" standpoint. Watch for it.

DIRECTOR OF TOWN

PLANNING IS NAMED

EDMONTON—Horace L. Seymour

of Vancouver, has been appointed director of town and rural planning in Alberta, under the town planning act passed at the last session of the legislature. His appointment follows the recent meeting of the government's advisory committee on planning, at which all applications for the post-tion were considered and which was unanimously in favor, of Mr Seymour. It is understood that he will assume the duties of the office at the first of the new year.

HUNTING AN AUTUMN
Attraction in Canada

THIS SEASON HAS APPEAL IN RECREATIONAL AREAS—
OPEN SEASON VARY

Within every one of us there is something which thrills to the thought of a holiday spent in the great open spaces with the scent of pine and the freedom from the artificialities of modern life. It is possibly inherited from our pioneer ancestors, but never theless the urge to get back to nature for even a short time is exceedingly great. The graduation of such desires is possible at every season of the year in Canada. Winter, summer, spring, and autumn all provide opportunities for the enjoyment of recreative sport which in the light of present-day knowledge is so necessary to the well-being of the modern man and woman.

At this time of the year when the feet of frost is in the air and the trees are taking on their autumnal tints, the out-of-doors seem to have an even stronger appeal. To the sportsman and hunter the lure is compelling and deep. Myriad im-portunities go trekking through the forest and lakeland areas of the Dominion in search of the lovely moose and the nimble deer. The hunting season in Canada is ushered in early in September and for several months

the rigid protection provided the feathered and furred denizens of our vast hinterland is somewhat lessened.

In the wilderness areas of Canada which lie just beyond the settled portions of the provinces, the remnants of the wild life of the continent have taken refuge. Wise game laws and the co-operative of sportsmen and hunters are helping to conserve our wild life resources. National parks and forest reserves, by providing sanctuaries for the wild life, are also aiding in this work, and the future of hunting in Canada for many years to come is assured.

Generally throughout the Dominion moose, deer, and bear may be hunted at varying periods between the first of September and the middle of December, while open seasons for caribou occur in Ontario, the Prairie

Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and British Columbia.

Ducks, geese, rails, brant, woodcock,
and Wilson's snipe may be shot within certain periods, there being a slight variation in different parts of the Dominion. In general wild life matters are a responsibility of the provinces and the regulation of the taking of game animals is controlled by provincial law. Changes occur in the game laws from time to time

as conditions require them and prospective hunters, in order that they may be furnished with the latest regulations, should communicate with the chief game official of the province in which they intend to hunt before starting out for their trip. The shooting of migratory game birds is regulated by the Migratory Birds Convention Act, which is based on the treaty entered into for the protection of water fowl and other valuable species of birds migrating north and south across Canada and the United States. Copies of the regulations under this Act may be obtained from the Commissioner of National Parks, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or from any of the provincial chief game officers.

*** One difference between the old-fashioned girl and the modern one, is that the running expenses were much less on the old model. And the running expenses on your home will be a whole lot less when you have a complete set of storm doors and windows from the Atlas Lumber Co.

Phone 57; Joe Welch will fix this up for you!

WHAT I THINK OF THE MOVIES

By AL JOLSON

You know, I never thought I'd be converted.

Even in my wildest flights of fancy, I was never able to visualize
"The Jazz Singer," the first Vitaphone production to include singing and dialogue, and when it was at last released I was the happiest mortal on earth. The picture was a success! Throughout the months we spent at the studio making the picture, I had been filled with doubts and fears, but the verdict of the public was unmistakable. The talking picture had arrived.

It was not so hard to induce me to make my second production, "The Singing Fool," which has just been completed. Warner Bros. had supplied a medium which proved to combine action and sound in a manner which seemed little short of per-

HORN—To Mr and Mrs G. Colloz, of Edgerton, at the Wainwright Municipal Hospital, on October 21st a boy.

Dr J. M. Miller of St Stephen's college, Edmonton, will be the special preacher for the day at the United church on Sunday next. He will also leave charge of the service at Green shields at 3 p.m.

By an advertisement on page five it will be seen that the Town Council are calling for tenders for the running of the skating rink during the coming winter.

The C.W.L. will hold their Thanksgiving Supper in the C.N.R. Clubrooms on Saturday, November 3rd 1928. Everbody is welcome.

The installation of the heavy duty machinery at the No. 3 well for Wainwright Oils is proceeding rapidly under the guidance of Driller Frank Stevens.

Mr Frank Mitchell, of Edgerton has now been gazetted as issuer of marriage licenses for the province.

Owing to a bad rail the No 2 flyer of the C.N. was ditched one day last week when the engine and a couple of the leading coaches were put "in the combat". Luckily no one was badly hurt, and things were straightened out by a big gang of repair men who were soon at work at the spot.

"Haul home your coal this month." When the real cold weather starts in November, The Atlas yard has several car loads just in. Get yours NOW!

Mrs Cummings who is in charge of the primary school, is now settled in the residence formerly occupied by Mr and Mrs Daugherty on Third avenue east.

Mrs J. Telford and Mrs Alec Adams entertained at bridge and whist parties last week and at which a large number of ladies spent a pleasant time in visiting for the dainty prizes.

Mr M. J. McLean and his two sons are arranging to hold an auction sale of their whole stock and implements as well as the farm land. Steve Bowerman will sell according to an advt. on page five of this issue.

HOLD EVERYTHING!—Our Big Fall Sale is being prepared. Here's where you can save big money. Watch for dates—A. C. Armstrong.

Mr and Mrs Ray Greer are now settled in their new home on Main street north.

Mr A. E. Challenger of Edgerton is now the authorized Chevrolet dealer for that territory.

The many friends of Mr F. Pawling one of our former townsmen will be glad to know that "Fred" has been promoted to the managerial office at the Dominion City branch of the Bank of Montreal. Congrats and all that!

Storm sash is the very best investment that you can make. They will save their cost in fuel every three years, and with proper care should last indefinitely. Order yours today from the Atlas yard. Phone 57.

Tenders are being called for the big Federal building which is to be erected in town this fall. The advertisement is appearing in this issue on page five.

Mr J. B. Mackenzie, of New Hamburg, Ont., who has been in town for a few weeks in connection with his firm interests here, left for home last week end.

WAIT!—Armstrong's are now preparing for their Annual Fall Sale. Watch for dates and advertising.

Mrs Percy Wiley and her daughter Miss Ada were trippers to the city at the week end.

An improvement has been effected in the Patterson store this week by the addition of a splendid new big grocery display silent salesman.

The ladies of the Greenhills W.C.T.U. are to be congratulated upon the success of their cooking sale in the room on Saturday last, when the response to their effort was heartily met and the finances swelled thereby.

A big crowd had a wonderfully good time at the big barn dance on the Alec Murray farm on Friday evening last, when the dandy music gave the "two-twinklers" a real merry romp. Refreshments were served around midnight and dancing continued well towards "sun-up".

We regret to learn of the sudden illness of Mr C. Currie, who was visiting his daughter Mrs Alec Adams in town recently. Mr Currie who suffered a heart attack was later taken to hospital at Camrose where he is progressing nicely. Mrs Adams was called to her father's bedside but happily found him much better.

Mr Walter Jackson was lucky enough to bring down a couple of fine wild geese on Tuesday morning. We guess they'll make dandy eating.

The original One-Cent Sale is the real money maker. Nov 15-16-17 at the Wainwright Pharmacy.

Mr M. Melvin took a run over from Vilna, Alta, at the week end.

Mrs D. Davidson and the children motored to the city for a few days visit last week end.

With the new electric signs being placed on our business premises in town, Wainwright is becoming now really "dazzled". We notice, too, that nearly all the merchants as well as a number of good citizens are cleaning up accumulations of rubbish around their premises and thus reducing the fire hazard for the coming winter.

Mr Geo. Campbell of Saskatoon, who was visiting his mother here has now left in her company for a winter's residence in California.

A real happy time was spent by a goodly number at the new White Cloud schoolhouse on Friday last, when those in charge are to be congratulated on the success attained.

The Atlas Lumber Co. are installing a weigh scales and building a coal shed at Fabyan and will handle coal here this winter.

A Halloween party for the scholars at the United church S.S. is being arranged to be held on Wednesday evening next in the church.

Mr and Mrs Hudson motored over to Vermilion last week to visit Mr and Mrs Pitlake, Mrs Hudson's parents.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Mabel Bowen who was away to the coast seeking improved health returned without much change having been gained. We wish her better quickly.

Mrs R. M. Durrant who is on the sick list last week is now feeling better.

Don't make your season's purchases till you visit our Big Fall Sale; watch for dates—A. C. Armstrong.

Mrs A. P. Stafford, of Calgary is here on a visit to her daughter Mrs Dixon of Buffalo View.

Mr Sam Blair stopped off for a few days this week on his return from Montana while journeying to his home in Winnipeg.

Mr G. Robin who is salesman at the Dupre garage, has now moved his family here from their former home at St Paul des Metis.

Mr Howard Pilgrim has now moved into town with his wife from the farm and is taking an engineer's shift at the new refinery.

We are glad to know that Mrs William Johnson, of Pauschendale, who has been sick at the hospital was well enough to return home last Sunday.

We hear that a dance is to be held at the Greenhills school on Friday evening, when the new maple floor is to be tried out. A good crowd is hoped for. Supper will be served.

Mr Euclid Girard left this week to take a position as pipe-fitter at the C.N.R. shops at Rivers, Manitoba.

Mrs Angus McQuaker has returned from a visit to her parents in Manitoba.

The Wainwell Oils have struck a good flow of water at the No. 3 well and will spud in and start drilling at once.

Mr Howard Pigeon who for several years was engineer at the power plant has accepted a similar position at the Wainwells refinery.

Remember the One-Cent Sale—Nov 15, 16, and 17 Bigger and Better values than ever before—Wainwright Pharmacy.

Mrs and Mrs Frank Stott were city visitors last week end.

STEP OUT STYLISHLY
